Week in Review

Although the House and Senate have begun introducing budget bill consensus has yet to be reached on joint budget targets. Until joint targets are met and agreed to, the budgets only show each individual chamber’s priorities—which will be amended once joint budget targets are announced. Based on all public appearances, budgets do not appear to be inching any closer to agreement.

Next week is the second legislative funnel—which is the date that requires certain bills to be voted out by one full chamber and moved through the other chamber’s full committee to be considered viable; this does not apply to Appropriation, Ways and Means or Leadership bills. Normally, the second legislative funnel is much less hectic than the first—as many bills have already been funneled out at this point.

Bills on the Move

Traffic Camera Ban. The Senate passed SF 343, a bill that bans traffic cameras, on a 30-19 vote. The House has a bill that regulates traffic cameras, HF 674, and was unsuccessfully voted out of House Appropriations on Wednesday on a 12-11 vote (the committee must have had 13 votes to move the bill for an actual majority). The chambers must find consensus on the version of the bill they want to move, otherwise, the bill will get tied up and die, as it has in previous legislative sessions. The Senate bill was assigned to House Public Safety and assigned a subcommittee who consists of Rep. Jarad Klein, Rep. Jeaneary and Rep. Kacena.

Medical Cannabidiol. On Tuesday the House passed HF 732, accepting a minority member amendment. The bill deals with medical cannabidiol and was approved 96-3. The bill expands the illnesses covered and replaces the cap on the amount of THC in cannabidiol to controls on the amount a patient can possess (25MG per 90 day supply). Representative Klein said that it has taken bipartisan work to get the bill approved. The Senate does not have an exact companion, but SF 501 covers many similar subjects. In 2017, the Senate voted 45-5 to expand the use of medical cannabidiol but could not get approval from the House on those provisions.

Implements of Husbandry. The House approved SF 555, implements of husbandry, on a 73-25 vote. Representative Mommsen said that rural residents already pay a significant amount of money into the rural services funds. He said that implements of husbandry have larger tires than trucks and spread the weight over more, reducing any damage due to the weight of the vehicle. The bill, having passed both the House and Senate, now goes to the Governor.

Hormonal Contraceptives. The Senate passed SF 513 on a 42-6 vote. Senator Miller-Meeks, who managed the bill, said that Iowa women, especially in rural areas, need to have reliable access to contraception. Governor Reynolds has made improving access to contraceptives one of her priorities this session. The House version of the bill, HF 727, is out of committee and ready for floor work.

Mandatory Reporting Training. HF 731 unanimously passed the House this week. The bill related to mandatory child abuse and dependent adult abuse reporter training, which requires that training be completed every three years rather than five, but allows a person to remain up-to-date if they complete one hour of training in the following three years.

Pharmacy Benefit Managers. HF 680 passed the House unanimously and creates anew Iowa Code section—chapter 510C, which requires a pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) to allow into its network otherwise qualified retail pharmacies. The bill also prohibits pharmacy benefit managers from requiring that patients receive prescriptions via a mail order pharmacy and from imposing any different limitations or cost burdens on patients who elect to receive prescriptions from a network retail pharmacy instead of a mail order pharmacy, allowing patients to choose where to obtain their prescriptions. The bill also establishes methods of appeal for retail pharmacies that are determined to not be qualified by a PBM, as well as methods for PBMs or insurance carriers to appeal any decision by the Commissioner of Insurance. The bill now moves the Senate.
